Foreword

1985-86 promises to be a very exciting and important year for all of Baffin. It is expected that the first Divisional Board of Education will be proclaimed in April to provide the people of the region with control of the education system. The Baffin Regional Hospital Board of Management will begin negotiations for the takeover of the nursing stations and other health programs. The patient boarding home in Montreal should be open in August. I hope also that the year will see the beginning of a much closer and more formal working relationship between B.R.C. and the Regional Director.

You will notice that we have experimented with a new format this year in an attempt to better illustrate how G.N.W.T. monies are spent in each community. I hope that, by studying salaries in particular, councils and parents are able to encourage students to stay in school and train for some of the well paying jobs currently held by southerners and that business people are able to see opportunities in the amount of money available.

I would be most interested to hear your comments on the new format in particular or the book in general.

Gary Black
Regional Director

Hamlet Budgets

Hamlet Budgets are developed and approved by the local councils who are responsible to see that various services are provided to the residents of their community.

Revenue for the Hamlets comes from Territorial Government grants, contract revenue, and other user charges for such things as municipal services and recreation.

Municipal Grants

G.N.W.T. funding is provided in the form of a municipal operating grant. The total regional grant is calculated from formulas which include factors related to the infrastructure and program requirements of individual Hamlets in the region.

Hamlet allocations are determined by the regional superintendent who bases his decision on the historical levels of funding and each hamlets infrastructure. Councils may use the municipal grant for any normal municipal activity as mandated by the Municipal Ordinance but are required to provide a basic level of service to their citizens in each of six functional areas.

In addition to the Municipal Operating Grant, Hamlets receive separate funding for recreation and airport operations. The Municipal Operating Grant and Recreation funding is paid on a quarterly basis by the Regional office.

Settlement Budgets

In Settlements, municipal revenue is made up of three basic components. The per capital grant, municipal service contract revenue and local revenue.

The annual per capital grant is paid to settlements at the rate of $20.00 per resident to a maximum of $12,000. These funds are intended to cover basic office operations and incidental expenses.

Municipal service to the residents of Baffin region settlements are provided by means of contracts between the N.W.T. Government and the local settlement councils. The councils are reimbursed by the Department of Local Government for all costs incurred under the service contracts plus a 15% administration fee.

On April 1, 1980, the Department of Local Government commenced a policy of total cost recovery on the provision of municipal services to the settlements. Revenue is collected by Local Government by invoicing federal and government departments in the communities, as well as private businesses and those who have their own homes.

In the area of recreation, settlements receive a per capita recreation grant ($5.00 per resident per year), a Front End Administration Grant ($3,000 per year) and a recreation O & M facilities contribution which is paid quarterly. In addition they generate local revenue through community recreation activities.

Settlements also receive funding to pay their airport observer/communicators and maintainers. The Settlement Council can also obtain local revenue from labour contracts on construction projects.

Annual Report

During 1984 there was significant political development in the Baffin Region, as numerous political organizations expanded their roles and took active leadership initiatives in their areas of influence.

All local education authorities in the region petitioned Minister of Education Dennis Patterson to declare divisional board status for the region. With funding from the Donner Foundation and expertise from McGill University, a comprehensive training program was organized for prospective board members. Board status is expected to be granted in 1985.

The development of the Arctic College concept was further advanced with the appointment of an assistant director, resident in Frobisher Bay, with responsibilities for organization of programs for the Eastern Arctic.

Development of the Baffin Regional Council continued with successful sessions held in Frobisher Bay and Pond Inlet, the fourteenth and fifteenth sessions for the council. A major initiative for the council was the establishment of formal reporting links with the Regional Director.

The Baffin Regional Hospital Board completed its second year of operation. The board was expanded to better represent Baffin communities. The board is working toward provision of patient liaison services in Montreal, with a capital budget to purchase a facility and an operating budget approved by Health and Welfare Canada. Meetings of the board are held every two months and are open to the public.

Visiting specialists continued to provide care in a variety of areas. A new physiotherapist department is now operating with a fulltime physiotherapist on staff. Dental services continued to be a serious concern. A survey of all school children in the Baffin region was conducted in 1984 in an attempt to determine the extent of dental problems experienced by school age children.

The Department of Social Services has two major facilities under construction. A permanent facility for multiple-handicapped children is scheduled to open early in 1985. A corrections officer trainee program began in September and it is anticipated the three Inuit trainees, upon successful completion of the course, will begin their careers as corrections officers coincidental to the opening of the new facility.

Emphasis was placed on improvement of service delivery at the community level and training of local social service workers. Training in the area of the young offenders legislation is also a priority with the department, along with planning for a regional young offenders facility.

The Department of Renewable Resources employed hunters and trappers association members in Clyde River, Arctic Bay and Frobisher Bay to collect specimens from caribou. Physical, reproductive and disease status of caribou was determined by examinations of these specimens. In addition to an aerial survey over a portion of southern Baffin Island, a caribou tagging operation, involving hunters from Pangnirtung, Cape Dorset, Lake Harbour and Frobisher Bay, was carried out in Camsell Bay, Nettiling Lake. A total of 245 caribou were tagged. A number of successful sport hunts for polar bear, muskox and caribou were conducted throughout the region.

The airports division of the Department of Local Government established an agreement to provide regular electrical maintenance at each airport. This will alleviate major electrical problems experienced in the past. New airport emergency vehicles were delivered to Lake Harbour and Clyde River.

Construction began on a new multi-purpose hall in Arctic Bay and major renovations to recreation facilities in Igloolik utilizing local labour.

High priority was given to community development with completion of the Lake Harbour community plan and zoning by-law.

The annual fire training school continued to receive excellent support from all Baffin communities. A proposal to establish a permanent fire training school in Frobisher Bay was prepared and forwarded for consideration by the minister.

The Department of Economic Development and Tourism, in conjunction with the Department of Education, undertook to provide training for guides, outfitters and cooks for regional hotels and tourist facilities. The development of Peale Point Historical park, near Frobisher Bay, continued with considerable archaeological interpretation done in 1984.

Efforts to improve commercial use of wildlife resources included commercial fisheries development in Igloolik, renewed focus on the prospects for muskox and caribou or reindeer transplants to sites on Baffin and stimulation of intersettlement trade through development of supporting infrastructure.

Continued low prices for seal skins and a significant reduction in demand for narwhal tusks were of special concern. In Broughton Island a seal skin sewing project moved well into the planning stage with facility development to begin in 1985.

Mineral activity in the region was mainly restricted to continued exploration in the Nanisivik area in an attempt to identify additional reserves of potential mineral deposits. On Melville Peninsula, Borealis Exploration Limited carried out extensive aerial surveys of their magnetite reserves in 1984 in addition to some base camp developments.

A High Arctic development review committee was formed, composed of representatives of Lancaster Sound area communities. The committee met several times during the year, their main focus being the Bent Horn proposal made by Panarctic.
